By three o'clock yesterday afternoon the following democrats had gathered at Frank Showers' law office in the Book walter building to hold a meeting of the democratic county contral committee pursuant to the call made by Chairman John Kinnane last Friday: Joseph E. Ritter, Alexander Michael, Seth Rhinehart, Wilton H. Dynes, Dan Kirsell, E. O. Hagan, Frank Showers and John Gorman. At this time Chairman Kinnaue came in, and as no quorum was yet present they went to Gus' at the invitation of the chairman to get a drink. After Jefferson club rooms across Limestone street for more room. Members came straggling in very rapidly until in a few minutes fifteen members were present. They were Myers were accepted. The chairman stated that the object was to decide on the date of a convention to be held before the democratic state convention, upon the methods of electing delegates, and any other business that might come up. Here Dave White whispered about the G.-R. reparter being present, and remarked on the surprising unanimity that reigned in the committee meeting. but not meeting with hearty support 'Ach!" said he, "and what's the use of dropped the matter for the fightin' about nothin'. I just fixed a few of A good deal of informal talk in groups then followed about what basis the representation the b'yes and we went up and put it through in a hurry. We're in a minority here anyshould be made upon. Johnny Kinnane's how, and what's the use of havin' all them rich brogue was heard in one of these groups to sing out: "Och! the more you have, the cranks come up here and kick about nothin'?" A little later the reporter learned that four or more at fightin' you'll have!" He roon took ive of the committee had waited all afternoon his seat again and on motion of White it was in Showers' office for the committee to come, and had accused the others of setting up a job to give them the slip. Considering the fact that the part of the committee that determined to have three delegates for every 100 votes cast for Newman last fell. Some question arose as to what the convention was for, and Madison Over moved that the call for met were on the ground very early; that they changed their meeting place very sudderly the convention embrace the selection of with no objections from any one present; that delegates to the state convention, to nominate every motion made went through without a murmur, and most of all, that the call was all written out in ink be ore the meeting ever ounty officers, and it was carried. He then moved that the convention also elect began; considering all these things it looks very much as though Mr. Kinnane was in carnest when he said he had "fixed all the the county central committee for the ensui- g year. This was also carried, notwithstanding the objections of Dave White, who desired that they be elected by the precincts in naucus.

E. O. Hagar then moved that the delegates be elected at the ward and township caucuse by ballot. This was carried at once, the only lissenter being Dave White, who didn't want the caucuses bound by any rules. A motion of Pat Leary, that the delegates present cast no proxies be admitted to the convention, was carried without objection. Dave Kissell then rose to inquire when these caucus were to be held, and on being informed that this was a matter yet to be determined, moved that they all be held on Friday ever-ing, August 14, between seven and eight o'clock. This was carried with no remarks.

Pat Leary rose to make a motion that each ward and township meet altogether, without division into precincts, and was informed by the chair that such was the intent of Kissell's motion. Mr. Kissell again rose and moved that the convention be held at 2 p. m., on Saturday, August 15, and it was so deter-and the chairman appointed Dan Kissell, E. O.

that Frank Showers serve in bis place, but Mr. Showers cut him short with, "Can not writing. It will doubtless be remembered that at the convention last summer Frank swore by all that's good and great be'd that the only business remaining was the selection of a temporary chairman for the con-
